

R.T. Beers expands offering by joining Gallagher

We are proud to announce that R.T. Beers, a NASA Supplier since 1999, has combined with Gallagher, one of the world's largest and most respected insurance brokerage and risk management firms. This merger allows our Supplier Program to provide more resources than ever to meet the insurance and risk management needs of Metal Service Centers.

Together, we work with 13 of the top 50 largest Metal Service Centers (Metal Service Center News 2018) and 17 members within the NASA organization.

We are committed to helping Metal Service Centers protect employees, assets and improve the bottom line.

Our footprint now reaches to each and every city to provide our 25+ years of expertise based on visiting 100s of locations, training 1000+ supervisors, and reviewing 3500+ claims.

We would like to talk to you more about what this means for those Metal Service Centers within NASA.

Thank you for your continued support and we look forward to continuing our long-valued commitment to NASA and it's members.
